No charges for officers in Tate-Brown shooting

Philadelphia. Mother still says "unanswered questions" remain in shooting after traffic stop.

Tanya Brown-Dickerson, center, with Asa Khalif, left and lawyer Brian Mildenberg, still suspect wrongdoing in the death of Brandon Tate-Brown. / CHARLES MOSTOLLER, METRO

Three months and four days after Brandon Tate-Brown was fatally shot by police after a traffic stop while allegedly running for a gun, District Attorney Seth Williams announced that his office found no grounds to file charges against the officers who fired on Tate-Brown.

"While this was a terrible tragedy, a great tragedy, it wasn't a crime," Williams said Thursday. "It's not a case of an unarmed man running from his vehicle and being executed by police."

Joined by members of the clergy, law enforcement and city officials, Williams showed video to the media of 26-year-old Tate-Brown's traffic stop on the 6600 block of Frankford Avenue in Mayfair in the early morning hours of Dec. 15.

While dark and grainy, the footage clearly shows Tate-Brown struggle with the two 15th District officers who pulled him over before he was shot.

D.A. Williams spent an hour going over the evidence in the case, saying that civilian witnesses backed up police accounts that Tate-Brown was near the passenger door of the rental Dodge Charger he was driving, near where officers say they had spotted a gun, before fatally shooting him in the head.

But at another press conference hours later, Tate-Brown's mother Tanya Dickerson and her lawyer Brian Mildenberg asserted that they viewed a surveillance video that shows Tate-Brown shot near the back right of the car — not near the door.

"I saw my son nowhere near the right side," Dickerson said. "I gotta keep reliving it. Just tell us everything. Show the public everything. It's killing me. Show them what I saw."

Dickerson has not filed any lawsuit against the police department, but is still demanding that police release all surveillance footage of the shooting, as well as the names of the officers involved in the shooting.

"I believe that the police department has made statements about this case that have turned out not to be true," Mildenberg said — referring to why the car was pulled over, and what Tate-Brown was doing at the time he was shot.

"The only mistake my cousin made was driving while black," said activist Asa Khalif.

Protests of the D.A.'s decision were scheduled for Thursday night after Metro went to press.

Law and order

The officers involved in the Tate-Brown incident were previously cleared of departmental violations and returned to active duty.

- With no criminal charges filed by the district attorney, the officers are technically cleared of wrongdoing.

Snow. Because this winter wasn't long, bitter or cold enough

Center City tech support worker Rob Foster remembered exactly where he was when he heard of the Great Spring Snowstorm of 2015.

"I was walking down the street," Foster said, "and my roommate told me we would be getting snow, and I was like, 'Seriously? Again?'"

The Philadelphia region reacted with shock and exasperation over news of yet another snowstorm, this one coinciding with the first day of spring.

"That stinks," said Brooke Frieling. "I already put my winter coat away, so I don't know what to wear."

The National Weather Service forecasts snow before 4 p.m., turning over to rain and then back to snow Friday night.

A low of 29-degrees is expected Friday night. The city could see 1 to 3 inches of accumulation, with more north and west of the city.

"It sucks," said Lisa Coleman, 43.

Look forward to Wednesday, when temperatures are expected to hit the 50s. DAN KELLEY

Overbrook. Two teen boys charged with dog-walker's murder

Philadelphia police have a 15-year-old boy in custody and are hunting for another in last week's murder of an Overbrook man who was walking his dog.

Both will be charged with homicide as adults, police said. A 14-year-old boy, said to be cooperating with police, faces lesser charges.

Investigators say Jim Stuhlman, 51, was killed during a botched robbery.

Homicide Capt. James Clark said the boys had just finished playing basketball when they decided to rob someone. They began to approach Stuhlman, who was also walking a dog. The boys decided he was an easy target.

Tyfine Hamilton, 15, shot Stuhlman once in the chest after a brief struggle, police said. He remained at large and was considered armed and dangerous. Police have in custody Brandon Smith, who like Hamilton, is a freshman at Overbrook High School. Both have juvenile records for robbery.

Jim Stuhlman / PROVIDED

Police did not identify the 14-year-old.

Police have seized several guns as a result of the investigation. Clark said that when patrol officers in the 19th district spotted Smith and the 14-year-old, one of them ran into a house. In the course of their investigation, police seized a gun from another juvenile who was not involved in Stuhlman's murder.

Police also raided a house on W. Girard Avenue, where several guns were found.

Ballistics tests are being conducted to see if any is the murder weapon. DAN KELLEY

Pit bull in custody after mauling boy

An 11-year-old boy is facing multiple reconstructive surgeries after his family's seemingly loveable new pit-bull went berserk and mangled the boy's left arm.

Dominic, 2, was adopted Monday. On Wednesday, inside a Northeast Philly apartment on Lansford Street near Eden, he attacked, reports say.

Dom bit the boy, his 33-year-old mom and 10-year-old sister.

The kids fled and mom reportedly locked herself in the bathroom.

All three had skin ripped from their left arms, with the boy's wounds by far the worst. All three were initially treated at Aria Torresdale.

Dominic is in custody with the Animal Care and Control Team, which approved the adoption Monday because the pooch had such a good disposition.

The mom's boyfriend, Brian Brennan, identified the victims for local ABC as 33-year-old Nicole Keppol and her children, Chris, and Haley Crowe. METRO

Atlantic City gets no love in new Monopoly

Atlantic City is feeling lower than Mediterranean Avenue.

New Jersey's ailing seaside gambling hub, whose streets served as the inspiration for the original Monopoly, will not be among cities to appear on the game's 80th anniversary edition, titled "Monopoly: Here & Now."

Game-maker Hasbro partnered with BuzzFeed to allow people to vote for 22 cities that will appear in the special anniversary edition. The top city got to claim the coveted "Boardwalk" space, the game's most expensive property. Pierre, South Dakota, took top honors in the vote.

Known, according to Wikipedia, for being the second-least populous state capital, Pierre launched a campaign last week to boost its ranking from 57 to the top spot, according to Mayor Laurie Gill.

Not your parents' Monopoly.

"We basically had seven days to initiate and execute a 'get out the vote' effort. Pierre really stepped up to the plate and knocked this one out of the park," Gill said in a statement.

Other cities to secure spots include Detroit, Cleveland, New York and Waconia, Minnesota.

"Wall Street Analysts Praise New Breakthrough"

New Fat-Melting Pill Could Put Diet Industry Out of Business by 2016

Special Report by Health & Fitness Editor
Steve Engerson

NEW YORK —

You know what they say; if it sounds too good to be true, it probably is! That is, until recently when a small Colorado nutraceutical company developed the unbelievable… a new pill, that lets you drop dramatic amounts of weight — apparently without much effort at all!

Meet the Pill that Disintegrates Fat Cells …While You Sit Still.

Shred360™ originally shook up the fitness industry because of the way it DOUBLES your fat-burning potential and made fitness models "camera ready" in dramatically less time.

Shred360™ allows ANYONE, not just fitness professionals, to LOSE INTENSE AMOUNTS OF FAT — without grueling workouts or tasteless diet foods. It works by first breaking apart, then disintegrating your stubborn fat cells – so you drop pounds and inches even while you SLEEP! And best of all, Shred360™ was just released to the general public. That means you can experience unprecedented weight loss too.

Two Servings Replace Hours of Grueling Workouts. ACCELERATE the Speed of Your Metabolism by up to an Astounding 43%!

By creating a "Sedentary Cellular Workout" (nearly doubling the speed of your metabolism) Shred360™'s formula actually fools your body into thinking that you are lifting weights and running hard… increasing your metabolic rate by 43% and BURNING FAT FAST…

SIXTEEN Highly Refined Ingredients Vaporize Fat Without Effort Unlike Anything Ever Released!

Shred360™ is VERY Different from anything you've seen. Its proprietary blend of SIXTEEN potent ingredients, are Scientifically PROVEN to:

- Evaporate Fat by Speeding Your Metabolism by an Astonishing 43%
- Fool your body into burning carbs as energy – NOT storing them as fat
- Fool your body into BURNING Stored FAT through Thermogenesis and lipolysis
- Fool your body into feeling full – the ultimate appetite suppressant
- Enable your body to PRESERVE Lean, Healthy MUSCLE
- Increase energy and mental clarity almost immediately – guaranteed

And unlike highly ineffective, slickly marketed "diet supplements" (that are usually glorified caffeine pills) – Shred360™ (originally formulated for top athletes) will:

- NEVER make you jittery
- NEVER make your heart race
- NEVER leave you feeling hungry

Shred360™'s formula includes well documented Green Tea, Vitamins B6 & B12, Green Coffee and Raspberry Ketones, among others. Together, they are unconditionally guaranteed to make every surplus bit of your unwanted fat disappear - effortlessly - without starvation diets and painful exercise… while at the same time preserving the lean healthy muscle that your body needs.

Fitness Professionals Praise The Fat Burning Power of Shred360™

"Shred360™ Is the Best of the Best. In all my years of being a Fitness Professional, I've never recommended a fat-burner because almost all fat burners fall short… but I was so impressed with the science, the ingredients, AND the personal results of this product - I contacted the company directly to share my excitement." Shaun Hadsall – Fitness Trainer, creator of the "4-Cycle Fat Loss" system

Analysts Think Shred360™ Could put Jenny Craig and Weight Watchers Out of Business by 2018

Analysts (who have studied Shred360™'s ability to isolate, breakup and eliminate fat from the body) predict traditional weight loss companies will be obsolete in the next 4-years.

Let's be honest. For most of us, the absolute ease of losing fat with Shred360™ is much more important than the science of "how it works". As one Wall Street Investor put it, "By using Shred360™ - you can eat like a normal person, skip the gym, and lose the fat you want while you sleep – so who in their right mind would ever use a company like Jenny Craig or Weight Watchers? The answer, clearly, is no one."

No more tasteless "diet frozen meals", no more prepackaged "food", no more time consuming trips to the gym, and no more clubs to join - PLUS Shred360™ nearly doubles your metabolism and burns fat while you SLEEP – making it the most important breakthrough in weight loss history… and that has mainstream companies worried…

Produced Under Highly Controlled Environmental Conditions In Small Batches, So Supplies Are Very Limited

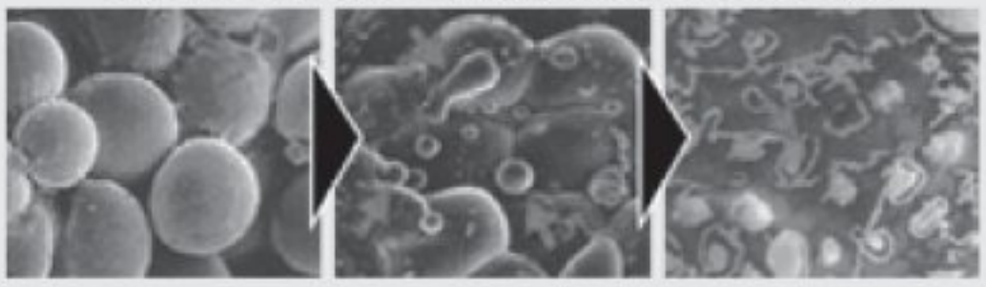
Shred360™ was originally developed for Top Fitness Professionals (a very small market) and was never meant to be the all-around fat burner that it, thankfully, turned out to be. Because of this, Shred360™ is produced under highly controlled conditions, in one of America's Top Certified Supplement manufacturing facilities, in very small batches… making supplies quite limited. This production method guarantees that Shred360™ is always pure, always safe, and always effective. Shred360™ truly is a "Professional Grade" supplement.

Special Opportunity for Our Readers – Small Sample of Shred360™ Made Available with No-Questions-Asked 365-Day Guarantee!

As the Health and Fitness Editor, I am happy to say that I have been able to reserve a limited supply of GUARANTEED TO WORK Shred360™ - for 100 of our readers (I wish it could have been more – but their supplies are very limited). All you have to do is call them directly at 1-800-983-9386 and request your limited supply plus additional FREE bottles (just ask).

You will see – stubborn unwanted fat will be eliminated from your body with absolute ease. But please don't wait to call… once these free samples are gone – they are gone for good.

THE SHRED360™ EFFECT: DESTROYS AND ELIMINATES FAT CELLS



It works by first breaking apart, then disintegrating your stubborn fat cells – so you drop pounds and inches even while sitting or even sleeping!

Five things you need to know

1 Islamic State says it killed tourists in Tunisia

Tunisia said it would deploy the army to major cities and arrested nine people on Thursday after 20 foreign tourists were shot dead in an attack on a museum, which Islamic State militants called "the first drop of the rain."

Officials did not confirm the militants' claim of responsibility but said they had identified two gunmen shot dead by security forces after the shootings, which targeted tourist buses visiting the Bardo Museum on Wednesday.

The two gunmen were trained at a jihadist camp in Libya, the Tunisian government said. Interior ministry official Rafik Chelli said the two men had been recruited at mosques in Tunisia and traveled to Libya in September.

The assault — the deadliest attack involving foreigners in Tunisia since a 2002 suicide bombing in Djerba — came at a fragile moment for a country just emerging to full democracy after its pioneering popular uprising four years ago. REUTERS

2 Prosecutors seek evidence in Christie's bridge scandal

Federal prosecutors have issued a new subpoena seeking evidence of claims that New Jersey Governor Chris Christie's Republican administration deliberately snarled traffic on the George Washington Bridge as political retaliation against the Democratic mayor of Jersey City, the Wall Street Journal reported on Thursday.

Citing a person familiar with the matter, the paper said the subpoena issued this week to the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey seeks records from a broad range of former Authority officials regarding their interactions with Jersey City. REUTERS

3 Tesla to offer hands-free steering

Tesla Motors will soon offer upgrades including hands-free steering on its Model S sedan, Chief Executive Officer Elon Musk said on Thursday, but the news did not help the electric carmaker's volatile shares, which fell more than 2 percent.

Tesla is set to offer the automatic steering feature in three months, about a year ahead of other automakers. It will be available only when driving on freeways or major roads, as part of a continuing series of free software upgrades delivered wirelessly to Model S owners, Musk said. REUTERS

4 Assange likely to remain in embassy

WikiLeaks founder Julian Assange is likely to remain at the Ecuadorian Embassy in London where he has taken refuge as long as U.S. authorities pursue a criminal investigation of his anti-secrecy group, one of his lawyers said.

Speculation rose that he might leave the embassy after Swedish authorities last week offered to question him there over allegations of sexual misconduct, dropping their insistence that he go to Stockholm for questioning about a 2010 incident.

He refused to return to Sweden, arguing that the Swedes would send him on to the United States to face possible trial. REUTERS

5 Murder suspect in Arizona court

An Arizona ex-convict appeared in court on Thursday accused of killing one person and wounding five others in a shooting rampage that began at a motel in suburban Phoenix and ended with his capture four hours later.

Ryan Elliott Giroux, 41, who is alleged to have white supremacist ties, is charged with multiple felonies including first- and second-degree murder. He is being held in jail without bond for probation violation, authorities said. REUTERS

College. Virginia to investigate bloody arrest of black student

Virginia Governor Terry McAuliffe on Wednesday called for an investigation into the arrest of a black college student that left him bleeding from the head and sparked campus protests.

Photographs circulated on social media showed Martese Johnson, 20, vice chairman of the University of Virginia's Honor Committee, with a bloodied face after an arrest by state Alcoholic Beverage Control agents early on Wednesday morning.

"Governor McAuliffe is concerned by the reports of this incident and has asked the secretary of public safety to initiate an independent Virginia State Police investigation into the use of force," the Democratic governor's office said. REUTERS

Black man found hanging from tree

The FBI has launched a preliminary inquiry into the death of a black man found hanging from a tree in Mississippi on Thursday, in what authorities say may be a crime or suicide, local media reported.

The man, whose name was not released, was found in Claiborne County, in western Mississippi, WJTV, the local CBS affiliate, reported. The county sheriff and the FBI did not immediately respond to messages seeking comment. REUTERS

Capital punishment. Dzhokhar could be sentenced to death if he is convicted of the charges.

The Boston Marathon bombing trial jury on Thursday saw the remains of a pressure-cooker bomb that prosecutors say Dzhokhar Tsarnaev hurled at police during a gunfight four days after the bombing as well as jihadist files recovered from his laptop.

The bomb, described as similar to the twin bombs set off at the race, was extracted from a Honda Civic in which it embedded itself on a Watertown, Massachusetts street after Dzhokhar Tsarnaev and his older brother, Tamerlan, detonated it during the gunfight.

An FBI agent testified that investigators recovered several apparently jihadist documents on Dzhokhar Tsarnaev's laptop, including at least three copies of Al Qaeda's "Inspire" magazine, one featuring a cover story headlined "Make a Bomb in the Kitchen of Your Mom," and another brochure-type document titled "Jihad and the Effects of Intention Upon It." REUTERS

Quoted

"Those pieces were typically more fragmented, more cut up ... This was a better representation of the pressure cooker as a whole."

Corcoran testified in U.S. District Court in Boston, looking at both the main pot and its lid, which was found halfway down the block from the blast site, in a child-sized soccer goal in a home's side yard.

Tag Heuer and Intel challenge Apple with Android smartwatch

Watch out. Some luxury watch executives remained skeptical about smartwatches.

Tag Heuer, French luxury group LVMH's biggest watch maker, said it will launch a smartwatch later this year using Google's Android operating system in a venture with Intel to compete head-on with the Apple Watch.

Tag Heuer Chief Executive Jean-Claude Biver declined to give any details about pricing, functionality or design, but said on Thursday that it aimed to produce what would be the first Android luxury smartwatch in the fourth quarter.

The Apple Watch is due to go on sale on April 24 and will range in price from $350 to $17,000 for an 18-karat gold model. It is the company's first major new product in five years and consumer demand for the device is being closely watched by competitors and investors.

Marc Hayek, who heads Swatch Group watch brands Breguet, Jaquet Droz and Blancpain, joined the chorus of luxury executives alongside Hermes and Patek Philippe who said they had no plans to launch a smartwatch. REUTERS

Auto. Branson says Virgin working on electric cars: Bloomberg TV

Billionaire entrepreneur Richard Branson's Virgin Group may take on Tesla Motors Inc. and other companies in developing electric cars, Bloomberg reported on Thursday.

Branson, whose empire ranges from airlines to music stores, mobile phones and spaceships, said electric cars may be next.

"We have teams of people working on electric cars," Branson told Bloomberg TV in Miami, where his Virgin Racing team competed in the all-electric Formula E race that involves battery-powered cars.

Branson's Virgin Galactic is a commercial spaceflight company that competes with SpaceX, which was founded by Tesla CEO Elon Musk.

"We are working with the Virgin Formula E team to develop the plan for next season's cars," Virgin Group spokesman Nick Fox told Reuters. "Our aim is to build a leading engine and car for next season. Maybe ultimately that could be used in the broader car market in the future."

President of Virgin Atlantic Richard Branson / GETTY IMAGES

"So you never know, you may find Virgin competing with the Tesla in the car business as we do in the space business. We will see what happens." Branson

In addition to Tesla, most of the world's automakers sell or are developing electric cars. There are also signs Apple Inc. may be working on an electric car and Google Inc. is developing a car that can drive itself.

However, broader acceptance of electric cars has been held back by the premium consumers who must pay for the technology and fears about the driving range of an all-electric vehicle. REUTERS

Theo James takes on acting opposite a MILF

Theo James has faced a lot of acting challenges over the course of his career, but nothing comes close to what he had to contend with once Naomi Watts was cast as his mother in "Insurgent."

"Firstly — which is interesting because she's playing my mum — she's a bit of a babe. I had to get past that," James admits. "But no, she's really interesting in this film because she has a very different energy. She's very calculating, but at the same time, she has a warmth and a kind of gentleness that almost juxtaposes what her real ambition is. It's very loving and sweet but intense at the same time."

That estranged mother-son relationship echoes the troubled father-son relationship he played in the first film, opposite Ray Stevenson. And James had absolutely zero life experience upon which to draw for either pairing.

"Luckily, I have two good parents," he says. "That was one thing that needed a little addressing when it came to the Naomi scenes. It is kind of the same: he's estranged from both parents. But I didn't want it to be a repeat of the same beat he's already had with his father. But, in terms of drawing on my own family, I think the importance of family is a big thing for me, so using those feelings and thoughts and philosophy and incorporating that into the character is definitely something that I did."

Much easier was stepping back into the role of Four for the second installment of the successful YA franchise. "You know, second movie around, you've already set up some of the key storyline elements, so we have that luxury of jumping straight into the action without exploring characters and introducing them again," James explains.

That also meant jumping back into his onscreen relationship with Shailene Woodley, as series star Tris. And that's a relationship James insists he has no trouble exploring.

"I like the fact that they have mutual respect for one another," he says. "Her femininity doesn't detract from her masculinity, and the other way round. She's a very strong female lead character, but she is also very feminine."

NED EHRBAR

Naomi Watts makes dystopia look good. ANDREW COOPER

Naomi Watts: New kid on the YA block

The Australian actress enters the "Divergent" fray with the franchise's second film, "Insurgent."

NED EHRBAR
@Nedrick
ned.ehrbar@metro.lu

Joining an established franchise can be daunting even for the most experienced of actresses, and for Naomi Watts, becoming a part of "The Divergent Series: Insurgent" came with plenty of first day jitters.

"When I arrived on the set, it was a little scary because this is a very well-oiled machine," Watts says. "I was just wildly impressed with how fast they were moving and how disciplined all of these young actors were. When there's that many people, you can sometimes sense a little rivalry here, a few issues there, but they felt very connected."

The center of that warm fuzziness, apparently, was star Shailene Woodley. "I remember when I first met Shailene, I was just enveloped in this giant hug," Watts recalls. "It felt so warm and just relaxed me right away."

Watts co-stars as Evelyn, estranged mother of Four (Theo James) and leader of the outcast Factionless in the dystopic future of the "Divergent" world, but as an actress, she honestly thought her action-packed days were over.

"I remember back in the day, when I was at the very end of my ingenue days, being in 'King Kong' and having to do quite a lot of physical stuff, making the promise to myself that I would never do that again," she says with a laugh. "But now I'm an older woman — or a much more mature woman — and I don't have to do quite what Shailene has to go through. But we'll see about that for the next movie."

> "I couldn't imagine that anything could be so bad that my children would be left, but this is the world of storytelling."
> Naomi Watts

While the action wasn't too involving for her — this go round, at least — there were some aspects to Evelyn that were tough to connect with, especially the fact that she abandoned her son when he was very young.

"That one was very hard to reconcile," Watts admits. "But we know that she was going through something that she felt was life-threatening, and a great deal of abuse, and that was a survival choice that she had to make," she says, adding, "I couldn't imagine that anything could be so bad that my children would be left, but this is the world of storytelling."

Of course, while the "Divergent" franchise has been up and running already, Watts sees this as just the beginning for Evelyn. "It's a fun character because that's a complex thing to take on, the regret. But she's got drive, and she wants to fix the relationship, genuinely," she says.

"Perhaps there's something else going on as well, like she knows that both of [Woodley's and James'] characters are going to help her achieve things. So it's hard to establish what her motives are in this movie. We'll obviously explore that more in the next film."

Sean Penn doesn't 'give a f—' about his Oscars joke critics

The 'Gunman' star thinks critics of his immigration-related gibe need to lighten up.

NED EHRBAR
@Nedrick
ned.ehrbar@metro.lu

Sean Penn is just trying to promote "The Gunman," but people keep bringing up the Oscars and that "green card" joke he made when "Birdman" won Best Picture.

"I'm always surprised by flagrant stupidity. I keep having more hope," he says. "I have absolutely no apologies. In fact, I have a big 'f— you' for anybody who is so stupid not to have gotten the irony when you've got a country that is so xenophobic. If they had their way, you wouldn't have great filmmakers like Alejandro [Gonzalez Inarritu] working in this country. Thank God we do."

As for critics calling him insensitive about the immigration issue, he is even more direct: "I think they can be a bit more cheerful," Penn says. "When somebody as special as Alejandro makes a film as special as 'Birdman,' if he has a friend on stage, maybe that friend wants to let him know that he won privately for a moment before the room knows. So I wanted him to know it first, and that's who I was talking to, so I don't give a f— about all those other people."

But about "The Gunman." It's directed by Pierre Morel, who made Liam Neeson an action star with "Taken." And given that Penn is also a respected actor of a certain age, comparisons have been drawn — not that he agrees with the assessment. "I thought Harrison Ford made a whole career on this stuff, and I didn't think it was considered, like, a new trend or anything like that — what I call 'geri-action,'" Penn says. "Admittedly, there's a tremendous amount of action; one can't say it's not an action movie, but it's a different kind of movie also because it's not a 'wink at the audience' movie."

But action is action, and Penn — who shows off his efforts by ditching his shirt whenever possible — didn't escape entirely without injuries. "Little ones," he admits. "There was an extraordinarily achy body at the end of the film, but that's accumulative."

Even if "The Gunman" enjoys "Taken" levels of success, he's not eyeing a franchise, and not just

"I wanted him to know it first, and that's who I was talking to, so I don't give a f— about all those other people."

because of the aches and pains: "I wouldn't allow myself to think about that. I got projects I want to direct, and that's what I want to focus on."

Of course, ask him immediately after he's finished filming, and he'd tell you he'll never make another movie again, sequel or no sequel. "I think, if I can remember what it feels like after it's done, that I would never do it again," Penn says. "But it's a perishable awareness."

'Insurgent' has Shailene Woodley and nothing else to recommend it

MATT PRIGGE
@mattprigge
matt.prigge@metro.us

When we last saw dystopian youth Tris (Shailene Woodley), she had escaped her fascistic city for the outskirts. Here, she tries to kill her nemesis (Kate Winslet) — after she agrees to her demands to do a test involving a mysterious box.

The lowdown: The second "Divergent" film has only one thing to glowingly recommend it: Shailene Woodley. As the series' resident reluctant messiah, the actress isn't merely a tough-but-vulnerable Katniss-Jennifer Lawrence type; her emotions are right there in her expressive eyes. When she's on-screen, her stress seems all too real: The entire movie rests on Woodley, unduly demanding she supply all of its heart and feeling.

Ye gods, there are still two more of these "Divergent" movies? ANDREW COOPER

Despite a director change (to "Flightplan"'s Robert Schwentke), this is even more leaden than "Divergent," and far more prone to get tripped up on its complicated plot, which involves multiple communes, a couple turncoats, at least three instances where a set piece turns out to be a sweaty nightmare, and too many flashbacks starring Ashley Judd's dead character.

The expository dialogue (something about "a trial held by Erudite") can still sound like Yes song titles, and Woodley is again amusingly surrounded by ex-movie boyfriends (Miles Teller, doing his best '80s James Spader, and Ansel Elgort, as — ew — her bro).

The film treats Woodley like a get-out-of-jail-free card for all its fits of crappiness. After all, you oughtn't to miss a Shailene Woodley performance, even one where even Kate Winslet looks bored.

'The Divergent Series: Insurgent'

Directors: Robert Schwentke
Stars: Shailene Woodley, Theo James
Rating: PG-13

Sean Penn, noted anti-gun liberal, gets to play with guns in "The Gunman." OPEN ROAD FILMS

'The Gunman'

Director: Pierre Morel
Stars: Sean Penn, Jasmine Trinca
Rating: R

Sean Penn (and his frequently bared six pack) plays a former Special Forces badass who discovers someone has a hit out on him for past sins, forcing him to globe trot, find the responsible baddie and — who knows? — maybe reconnect with an ex-girlfriend (Jasmine Trinca).

The lowdown: Despite how it looks — and despite being directed by the guy who made "Taken" — "The Gunman" doesn't rebrand the one-time Spicoli as another Liam Neeson-esque respected thespian-turned-action star. It does, however, call on him to fight, shoot guns and, unlike Neeson, show off his ripped torso. Things start off serious and socially conscious, but what follows is unexpectedly boilerplate-thriller nonsense — a Bond-like globe-trotter with a dodgy conspiracy, some cheesy action scenes and a whole mess of other wildly over-qualified actors besides Penn.

Despite the presence of Javier Bardem (with only marginally bad hair), Ray Winstone and peerless Shakespearean actor Mark Rylance, the only one really trying is Trinca, perhaps because this is one of the first major Hollywood gigs for the Italian actress (known for "The Best of Youth" and Valeria Golino's nicely understated, gorgeous "Honey"). She probably assumed with a cast like this she was in the big leagues. Instead everyone — including a growly Penn — is in paycheck mode, cruising on their natural screen presences, having some fun but not taking it very seriously. Why would they? Indeed, "Taken"'s Pierre Morel is the ideal director for this kind of thing, which, despite having a screenplay credit for Penn, winds up aspiring to be no more than a "Bourne" knockoff for slightly older actors than Matt Damon and Jeremy Renner. May it enjoy its second life as a lazy Sunday TV dad movie. MATT PRIGGE

Aubrey Plaza's superhero aspirations

Aubrey Plaza has made a name for herself in the comedy and independent film worlds with projects like the recently wrapped "Parks and Recreation" and her SXSW film premiere, "Fresno." But that doesn't mean she wouldn't be down to suit up for something in the Marvel Cinematic Universe.

"I would love to play some kind of badass superhero. I'm sure everyone would. What's not to love about that?" Plaza says. "I really like doing grounded, indie movies also, but the reason I fell in love with acting and movies was because I wanted to, like, play an alien from another dimension, do things that only happen in your imagination."

The only question, of course, is which comic book character she could play. I'm going to go with Spider-Woman. Or maybe a new female Hawkeye.

Kevin Hart is not down with Austin's bats

The 'Get Hard' star learns about a terrifying tourist attraction.

Fun fact: Austin, Texas is home to the largest urban bat colony in North America, with up to 1.5 million mostly female and pregnant bats making a home under the Congress Avenue bridge — which is uncomfortably close to the Four Seasons, where Kevin Hart is right now.

"Do you know about the bats?" co-star Will Ferrell asks him innocently, and Hart's face immediately falls.

"You just lost me, buddy," he says. "Bats? Let's go ahead and fire up the goddamn plane. I don't f—around, man. I'm out. If it's some bats, I don't play that. We were in Australia, and I was like, 'Man, these birds look weird, don't they?' and the girl was like, 'Oh, those are bats.' I said, 'I'll see you all later. I've got a car. I'm going back home.' F—ing bats, I don't like that."

Flying cars are only two years away

Slovakian tech firm AeroMobil wowed SXSW audiences this week by announcing that their mass market flying car would actually be ready as soon as 2017, ahead of projections. "The plan is that in 2017, we'll be able to announce ... the first flying roadster," CEO Juraj Vaculik says. "The point is not only to showcase that it's possible to marry together a plane and a car, but to really commercialize it." The future is soon. NED EHRBAR / PHOTO CREDIT: AEROMOBIL

‘Breaking Borders’ to break bread

LISA WEIDENFELD

lisa.weidenfeld@metro.us

“Breaking Borders” airs Sundays at 9 p.m. on the Travel Channel. COURTESY OF THE TRAVEL CHANNEL

A new Travel Channel show has come up with a unique way to resolve international conflict: by gathering people around the dinner table and having a famous chef cook them a fabulous meal.

The show, “Breaking Borders,” features “Top Chef” winner Michael Voltaggio and journalist Mariana van Zeller traveling to strife-torn countries and trying to initiate some healing. The show visits such places as Egypt, Northern Ireland and Cambodia, meeting with people on each side of the country’s conflict and trying to promote a productive discussion over a meal cooked by Voltaggio.

That can lead to some intense dinner conversations. “There’s definitely been some emotion at the table. There’s been anger, there’s been crying. But there’s been laughter, and there’s been forgiveness,” says Voltaggio. “We’re not really talking about politics. We’re talking about people.”

His co-host had the challenging job of moderating the discussion. “It’s been tough. I’m not going to lie. There have been moments where we’ve had people want to stand up and leave the table, where we’ve had guests completely dominate the debate,” says van Zeller. “But I think the show has done a great job of putting it together in a way that you hear both sides, and everybody gets their say.”

Filming in places that have seen violence comes with its own form of difficulty. “Egypt was incredibly challenging to film,” says van Zeller. “Almost every time we put the camera out in public, we were approached by the police, and they took our passports.”

Voltaggio faced his own difficulties when it came time for him to prep the meal. “There was basically a chimney, and it overlooked the pyramids, which was cool, and it made a good scene for the dinner, but when it was time to cook, I’m like, ‘Where’s the kitchen?’” he explains. “We made arrangements to cook in this restaurant, but the economy was so bad that the restaurant had closed four years ago, so it was basically an abandoned restaurant. I had to go out in the streets and find hot plates to cook on, and there’s power issues. There was always a bit of a challenge in every place, but I think that’s what made it a little bit more fun.”

Cooking lessons

Voltaggio and van Zeller hadn’t met before working on the show but found their groove quickly. “We’re like brother and sister. We hit it off the minute we met. That was a huge relief,” says Voltaggio.

With all that time together, is van Zeller picking up any cooking tips? “My husband was so excited when he knew that I was going to do the show, because he thought, ‘Oh, finally, I’m going to have a wife who knows how to cook,’ and unfortunately I don’t,” van Zeller says with a laugh. Though she says she helped Voltaggio out in the kitchen whenever she could, she’s not quite an expert yet. “At the end, I’ve become really good at squeezing lemons. … Such an easy thing to do, and that’s the only thing he trusts me to accomplish in the kitchen.”

Jamestown Revival PROVIDED

Concert review: Jamestown Revival

Austin band Jamestown Revival sure were glad to be back in Texas. Frontman Jonathan Clay performed the whole set wearing a button-down, hat, cowboy boots and some pretty tiny swim trunks with the Texas flag on them. The band’s twangy, foot- stomping indie-rock performance set the mood as fans enjoyed free tacos and beer while singing along between bites. Their song “California (Cast Iron Soul)” was the crowd-pleaser of the night; download it for your next road trip.

Concert review: Elliphant

There is nothing quite like Elliphant, who has been dubbed Sweden’s “most unconventional pop star.” Though Nordic, the singer and rapper has a definite Jamaican feel to her songs, which sound like a mashup of M.I.A., Diplo and something else entirely. Somehow, the bizarre blend works. Her single “One More” — currently looping on indie stations like SiriusXMU — got everyone on their feet. EMILY LAURENCE

Hardliners not just in Iran

Re: 'Enriched uranium only has one use' (Metro, March 18) Enriched uranium is used in civilian nuclear power generation, to which Iran is entitled as a signatory to the nuclear non-proliferation treaty. All available evidence, including a U.S. National Intelligence Estimate, states that Iran has no active nuclear weapons program.

And before anyone cries "Obama is a Muslim," that N.I.E. was prepared under the George W. Bush administration, and it was under Bush that the current strategy of "managing" Iran's nuclear activities began. It should also be noted that Israel, unlike Iran, refused to sign the nuclear non-proliferation treaty, spied on the U.S. and stole industrial secrets from us, illegally obtained highly enriched uranium from us, has nuclear weapons, and has tried to sell them abroad. Israel has also been proven spectacularly wrong about their neighbors before: They accused Iraq of building nuclear weapons and bombed a civilian nuclear power plant, but international inspectors who examined the ruins found no sign of weapons manufacturing at all. We must be wary of the hardliners in Iran. They are dangerous.

However, we must be even more wary of ill-informed, hardline policies that strengthen those radicals rather than strengthening the more West-leaning moderates in Iran.

THE MIDDLE-CLASS SCHOOL DAZE

Opinion

TOM FOREMAN
POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT FOR CNN

Right now, at kitchen tables across the land, a great and terrifying conversation is taking place. Anxious high school seniors and their parents are staring down three questions: Which colleges have accepted me? Where do I want to go? And how in heaven's name are we going to pay for it?

These are not insignificant matters, and that last one is particularly vexing.

Nowhere else does the ever-expanding price tag for education hit families harder.

When I graduated from high school as a strapping young lad in 1978, the nation's average cost for tuition, fees, room and board at a four-year college was about $4000 annually. (For my friends who were on the five-, six-, and seven-year plans, it was even more. Never mind their bar tabs!) That average has risen so relentlessly that today a year hitting the books costs well over $23,000. That is an increase of … a lot. Obviously I wasn't a math major.

This isn't a great problem for the very wealthy, who can afford it. And many universities offer substantial assistance to the poor.

But middle-class families are being hammered. Without enough money to pay up front, they are being saddled with back-breaking debt even as experts insist a college degree is crucial to the success of their children.

Leaders in D.C., from the White House on down, have raised a ruckus for years now about the need to make college more affordable. But the sporadic results have largely focused on getting more money out there to help families pay, while doing little or nothing about the soaring cost itself.

And in the end, that looks like a losing proposition. Already a great many kids are earning diplomas that can never really pay for themselves in a practical sense, because the jobs linked to those degrees just don't produce enough income.

Don't get me wrong: college is still a great idea. But unless the nation finds a way to tame the cost, those conversations at the kitchen table will all start with a hard lesson in economics.

Horoscope

♓ Pisces | Feb. 19-March 20
Don't allow anyone to meddle in your private affairs. Take a realistic look at your relationships. You can solve your issues if you keep your emotions in check.

♈ Aries | March 21-April 20
Iron out details that pertain to agencies or institutions if you want things to go smoothly. Check into real estate or other long-term investments.

♉ Taurus | April 21-May 21
Don't sit at home waiting for things to happen. It's important to get out and enjoy group activities or community events. Avoid joint financial ventures or making a donation or loan.

♊ Gemini | May 22-June 20
Share your thoughts with friends and family. Expect someone to make an unreasonable or excessive demand. Suppressing your hostility will make matters worse.

♋ Cancer | June 21-July 22
You could use a change. A creative activity will provide relief from your everyday routine. Share a hobby with some enjoyable people if you'd like to enjoy some laughs.

♌ Leo | July 23-Aug. 22
Be smart. Don't live beyond your means, or you will have to pay the price. A serious revamping of your spending habits will be required to get back on track.

♍ Virgo | Aug. 23-Sept. 22
Plan a romantic evening with someone special. Try to get away from distractions or interruptions. Let your feelings be known, and share your plans for the future.

♎ Libra | Sept. 23-Oct. 22
Disgruntled colleagues can cause a great deal of tension in the workplace. Avoid gossip and malingerers. Do your job to the best of your ability and stay neutral.

♏ Scorpio | Oct. 23-Nov. 21 You need to get out and enjoy yourself. A pleasant get-together with close friends will provide some laughter and help you be more creative.

♐ Sagittarius | Nov. 22-Dec. 21 Consider what's happened in the past when you entered binding situations. The last thing you need is to become involved in risky or dubious deals.

♑ Capricorn | Dec. 22-Jan. 20 You should be firm when discussing what you want. If you allow yourself to be bullied or intimidated, you will lose your self-respect.

♒ Aquarius | Jan. 21-Feb. 18 You can learn a lot by observing the people around you. Watching how others deal with issues can be beneficial in helping you determine your own course of action. EUGENIA LAST

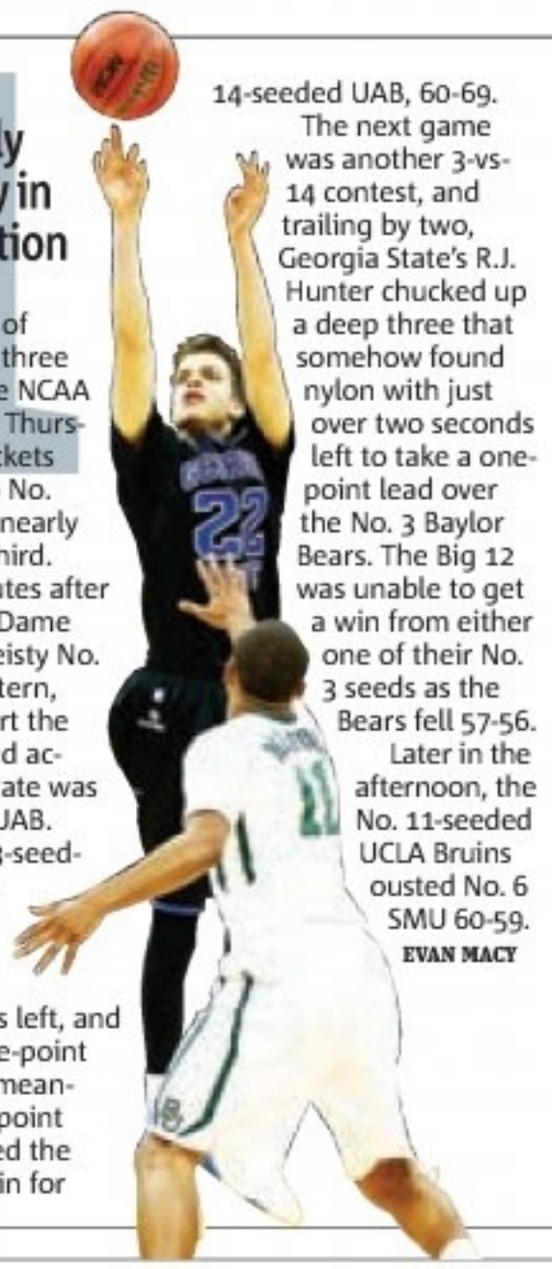
1 Upsets start early Thursday in NCAA action



In the space of just the first three games of the NCAA Tournament Thursday, the brackets had lost two No. 3 seeds and nearly was sans a third.

Just minutes after No. 3 Notre Dame fended off feisty No. 14 Northeastern, 69-65, to start the second-round action, Iowa State was stunned by UAB.

The No. 3-seeded Cyclones trailed the Blazers by a triple with seconds left, and when a three-point try failed, a meaningless two-point tip in clinched the one-point win for 14-seeded UAB, 60-69.

The next game was another 3-vs-14 contest, and trailing by two, Georgia State's R.J. Hunter chucked up a deep three that somehow found nylon with just over two seconds left to take a one-point lead over the No. 3 Baylor Bears. The Big 12 was unable to get a win from either one of their No. 3 seeds as the Bears fell 57-56.

Later in the afternoon, the No. 11-seeded UCLA Bruins ousted No. 6 SMU 60-59.

Iverson wants a job with 76ers

Former 76ers MVP and all-time NBA great Allen Iverson stopped by the 76ers win vs. the Pistons Wednesday, and mentioned how much he would like to get a job with the Sixers front office.

"I would like to be even in that war room," Iverson told the Sixers broadcast team. "Even if they don't go with my decision or whatever, just to have an opinion and putting out what I think and trusting the organization to do what's right."

Iverson went on to say his scouting preferences would target a unique attribute in potential prospects: "Their fight. Their fight. The fight in a guy," he said." EVAN MACY

3 76ers keep winning at home

There really is some kind of home court advantage for the 76ers. They have won 11 of their 16 victories at the friendly confines of the Wells Fargo Center — most recently Wednesday in a 94-83 win against the Pistons.

The 76ers finish a short homestand Friday night when they host the lowly Knicks looking to win their second straight. Following the game against New York, the Sixers head west for three games. EVAN MACY

4 Flyers playing for pride

The Flyers have all but fallen from play-off contention, with their elimination likely not far away.

In addition to playing for pride, Philly does have a couple other reasons to play. The first is for next year. With players like Nick Cousins showing their stuff with the NHL club, a lot of information regarding the makeup of next year's squad will be collected over the last few weeks of the season. There are also personal accolades still to be compiled.

Jake Voracek was just three points back of the NHL's scoring lead (as of Thursday afternoon) with Claude Giroux behind by eight in 14th place.

The puck drops for the Flyers in Edmonton at 10 p.m. Saturday.

NCAA Tournament.
Complete viewing guide to the full slate of second round NCAA Tournament games airing Friday.

The second day of the 2015 NCAA men's basketball tournament features No. 1 seeds Duke and Wisconsin's opening games along with a slew of what should be very competitive contests between sleeper teams and mid-majors. No 16 seeds have ever beaten a top seed, and with all due respect to Robert Morris and Coastal Carolina, it is not happening on Friday either. Three No. 2 seeds — Kansas, Virginia and Gonzaga — all get underway with legitimate Final Four aspirations but also plenty to prove. Usually, at least one No. 12 seed wins a game, so No. 5 West Virginia and No. 5 Northern Iowa will be on upset alert until further notice.

No. 2 Kansas (-10.5) vs. No. 15 New Mexico State, 12:15 p.m., CBS
As usual, the Jayhawks (26-8 overall, 13-5 Big 12) won the Big 12, but with leading scorer Perry Ellis (13.8 points per game, 7 rebounds per game) recently returning from a knee injury, this isn't a vintage Kansas. The Aggies won the WAC for the fourth-straight season, but they are looking for their first tournament win since 1993.

No. 7 Michigan State (-5.5) vs. No. 10 Georgia 12:40 p.m., truTV
As much as any program in recent history, the Spartans always show up in the tournament. However, Tom Izzo's team struggled this season more than usual. This is a toss-up, although the Bulldogs were only 11-7 in the SEC, which was really down outside of Kentucky's sheer dominance.

Is Maryland mad at their under-seeding at No. 4? / ALL PHOTOS GETTY IMAGES

No. 5 Northern Iowa (-6) vs. No. 12 Wyoming, 1:40 p.m., TBS
The Panthers (30-3 overall, 16-2 MVC) beat Wichita State in the Missouri Valley final so they are a legitimate dark horse to get to the Final Four. Northern Iowa senior forward Seth Tuttle (15.3 points per game, 6.8 rebounds per game) is one of the best players in the country that you've never heard of.
The Cowboys stole some bubble team's bid by winning the Mountain West Tournament, and they are making their first NCAA Tournament appearance since 2002.

No. 5 West Virginia (-4.5) vs. No. 12 Buffalo, 2:10 p.m., TNT
Former Duke star point guard Bobby Hurley returns to the NCAA Tournament for the first time as a head coach of the Bulls, who won the MAC Tournament. Buffalo is a trendy pick to beat West Virginia but head coach Bob Huggins has plenty of tournament experience for the Mountaineers. Senior guard Juwan Staten (14.5 points per game) is West Virginia's best player.

No. 7 Wichita State (-5.5) vs. No. 10, 2:45 p.m., CBS
Many felt like the Shockers (28-4 overall, 17-1 MVC) were seeded too low while the Hoosiers were on the bubble but safely got in the tournament thanks to the strength of the Big Ten. Head coach Gregg Marshall brought Wichita State to the Final Four two years ago. Junior point guard Yogi Ferrell (16.1 points per game, 4.9 assists per game) needs to have a big game for Indiana to win.

No. 2 Virginia (-17.5) vs. No. 15 Belmont, 3:10 p.m., truTV
The Cavaliers (29-3 overall,

Friday games

16-2 ACC) were one of the best teams all season, but that doesn't mean that they are much fun to watch since they average just 65.3 points per game (225th in the country). This is the fourth time in the last five years that the Bruins (22-10 overall, 10-5 OVC) have reached the NCAA Tournament, but they have never won a game there.

No. 4 Maryland (-5) vs. No. 13 Valparaiso, 4:40 p.m., TNT
The Terrapins (27-6 overall, 14-4 Big Ten) certainly enjoyed their first season in the Big Ten even though it still doesn't feel right that they are no longer in the ACC. Former Crusaders (28-5 overall, 13-3 Horizon) star guard Bryce Drew is their head coach. Valpo hasn't won an NCAA Tournament game since their Sweet 16 appearance fueled by him in 1998.

No. 8 Oregon (-1.5) vs. No. 9 Oklahoma State, 6:50 p.m., TBS
As usual in the 8-9 game, this is the definition of a pick 'em. The winner faces Wisconsin so it should be a short stay for either the Ducks (25-9 overall, 13-5 SEC) or Cowboys (18-13 overall, 8-10 Big 12). If there was any justice in the world, Pac-12 honk Bill Walton would be an announcer for this one.

No. 1 Duke (-22 points) vs. No. 16 Robert Morris, 7:10 p.m., CBS
For a few short hours, the Colonials (20-14 overall, 12-6 NEC) will be everyone's favorite team as they try to make history against the hated Blue Devils (29-4 overall, 15-3 ACC). Robert Morris head coach Andy Toole is 34 years old, so he's young enough to be Mike Krzyzewski's son. If nothing else, Colonials senior guard Lucky Jones (14.5 points per game, 6.0 rebounds per game) has one of the best names in the entire tournament.

No. 7 Iowa (-2.5) vs. No. 10 Davidson, 7:20 p.m., TNT
Stephen Curry's alma mater (Davidson) has come a long way in a few short years. They now compete in the Atlantic-10, and many are picking them to beat the Hawkeyes (21-11 overall, 12-6 Big Ten). The winner most likely will face Gonzaga so both of these teams would have a shot against the Bulldogs.

MIKE TOBEY AND THE CAVS SHOULDN'T HAVE TOO TOUGH A TIME VS. BELMONT.

Upset watch

No. 4 Louisville (-8) vs. No. 13 UC Irvine, 4:10 p.m., TBS

- On paper, this looks like a complete mismatch with head coach Rick Pitino and Louisville's pedigree and the fact that this is the first ever tournament appearance for UC Irvine. However, the Cardinals stumbled down the stretch after dismissing guard Chris Jones and the Anteaters have the biggest guy in the field: 7-foot-6-inch sophomore center Mamadou Ndiaye. This has all the makings of a signature upset.

No. 3 Oklahoma (-12.5) vs. No. 14 Albany, 7:27 p.m., truTV
The Great Danes (24-8 overall, 15-1 America East) had one of the iconic moments in championship week: junior guard Peter Hooley's buzzer-beater 3-pointer helped them beat Stony Brook in the America East final. The Sooners (22-10 overall, 12-6 Big Ten) are in the tournament for the third-straight year but looking for their first win since 2009's run to the Elite Eight. Oklahoma junior guard Buddy Hield (17.5 points per game, 5.5 rebounds per game) is one of the nation's best scorers.

RICH SLATE

Late night hoops

Breaking down the nightcaps

No. 1 Wisconsin (-19.5) vs. No. 16 Coastal Carolina, 9:20 p.m., TBS
After reaching the Final Four last season, Bo Ryan's Badgers seem to have as good a shot as any to knock off unbeaten Kentucky. Wisconsin star forward Frank Kamisnky is a front-runner for the Wooden Award recognizing college basketball's top player.

No. 8 San Diego State (-4.0) vs. No. 9 St. John's, 9:40 p.m., CBS
This is a great contrast of styles as the Aztecs play smothering defense while the Red Storm can get up and down with almost anyone.

No. 2 Gonzaga (-18) vs. No. 15 North Dakota, 9:50 p.m., TNT
This could be way closer than you expect since the Bison knocked off Oklahoma last season as a 12 seed. Furthermore, the Bulldogs looked like a No. 1 seed most of the season, but they lost at home to BYU.

No. 6 Providence (-3.5) vs. No. 11 Dayton, 9:57 p.m., truTV
The Flyers received maybe the biggest gift in NCAA Tournament history: a play-in game vs. Boise State on their home court. Providence looks for its first tournament win since 1997.

5 Worst City 6 college basketball snubs ever

An NIT tournament win on Wednesday over Bucknell is no consolation for Temple. The Owls expected to be in the Big Dance right now - not having to watch the tournaments opening games back in Philly. But they're not the first Philly team to be snubbed by the selection committee and surely won't be the last. This snubbing will certainly hurt for a while, but how does it rank among some of the five more notable snubs in City 6 history?

JEFF MCMENAMIN
@Jeff_McMenamin
sports@metro.us

5 2006-07 Drexel

(23-8, 13-5, RPI: 39

They had 13 road wins, including wins over No. 23 Syracuse, Creighton and City 6 rivals Villanova, Temple and St. Joe's. The Dragons were knocked out in the semifinals of the Colonial conference tournament by VCU and in the process sent themselves out of the Big Dance. The Dragons were the odd team out.

Drexel had a legitimate gripe after the 2012 season.

4 2011-12 Drexel

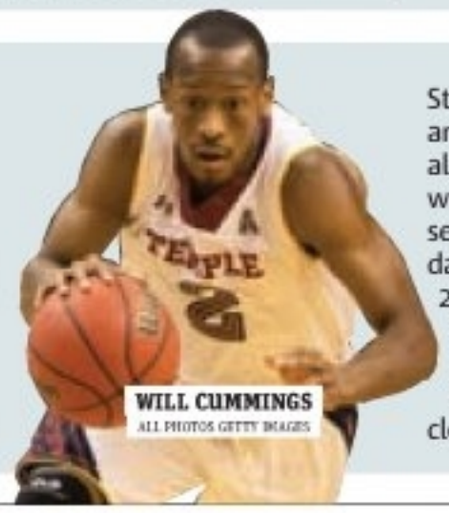
(27-6, 16-2, RPI: 71)

Nobody understands what Fran Dunphy and the Temple Owls are going through right now quite like Drexel coach James "Bruiser" Flint. Flint's Dragons ran off 19-straight victories in the 2011-12 season, before falling to VCU, 59-56, in the Colonial conference tournament final. The selection committee attributed a rough 2-4 record to start the season, no notable out-of-conference wins and a poor strength of schedule as the basis for leaving the blue and gold out of March Madness.

3 2014-15 Temple

(23-10, 13-5, RPI: 34)

Winners of 10 of its final 12 games, Temple seemed like a lock to at least make the play-in round of this year's NCAA tournament. Their RPI was better than the likes of Georgia, Ohio State, Texas, Iowa, UCLA and Oklahoma State, along with six other teams which were picked by the selection committee Sunday. They even boasted a 25-point win over second-seeded Kansas on their resume, one which no other bubble team came close to matching.



ALL PHOTOS GETTY IMAGES

2 1993-94 Villanova

(15-12, 10-8. RPI 55)

Having just 15 wins would certainly not get you into an NCAA tournament today, but back in 1994 it was definitely not out of the question. Maryland had the lowest win total as an at-large team in 1994 with 16, while most others fielded just 17. After a dreadful 6-9 record to start the season, the Wildcats clawed back into tournament consideration. They strung together seven-straight wins, which included wins over tournament-bound Boston College, UConn and Georgetown. Their season ended in the quarterfinals of the Big East tournament in a loss to eventual winner Providence. The Wildcats were invited to the NIT where, led by Kerry Kittles, they strung together five-straight victories to bring home the title. Nobody will ever know what the team was capable of on a larger stage that season.

Kerry Kittles

1 1995-96 St. Joes

(15-12, 9-7, RPI 70)

Arizona head coach Lute Olson cancelled a game with the Hawks at the Palestra on January 13, 1996 due to "inclement weather." It was 52 degrees in Philadelphia that day and Arizona's plane was running just a slight 22 minutes behind schedule. Rather than moving the game to a later start time or rescheduling, Olson cancelled it. Phil Martelli felt that Arizona was scared to play the Hawks, who had taken No. 1 UMass a week earlier.

CARFAX ADVANTAGE DEALER

What jerseys are safe to buy in Philly?

Sports. With so much movement over the past few months, which star athletes are here to stay?

There has been a lot of recent turnover in Philly sports. If you have a Jimmy Rollins, Michael Carter-Williams, LeSean McCoy, Jeremy Maclin or Nick Foles jersey, you got hosed over the past few months.

But if you are a true sports fan, it's hard not to invest in your team and sport their apparel.

Here's Metro's guess (because as Chip Kelly and Sam Hinkie have shown, anything is possible) for the best players to invest in by acquiring their jersey.

76ers: Nerlens Noel, Noel Embiid
These two big men are the bedrock foundation for the future of the Sixers. And they're probably the only two players you've ever heard of currently with the team. Each is still under the age of 21-years-old, each is a daunting seven-footer and each could man the Philly front court for years to come. Look for both to be double-double guys and, with talent in the back court, a competitive force in the Eastern Conference.

Phillies: Chase Utley, Ken Giles
I could be wrong here, but I think it's pretty clear Chase Utley is content to wind down his career here in Philly. He's won a World Series title and spent 12 seasons in red pinstripes. There's always a chance he'll waive his no-trade clause and go back home to Southern California but he's spoken out against in the past. Ken Giles is the heir apparent to Jonathan Papelbon to close games and the flame-thrower is not heading anywhere anytime soon.

Flyers: Jakub Voracek, Wayne Simmonds, Claude Giroux
These three, we can be pretty certain will be around for a long time. Each is in their mid 20s and on the right side of their prime. And each is an explosive offensive force for the Flyers. If only the defense could perform as well as these three forwards, the Flyers would be a mainstay in the playoffs. Hopefully, the prospects on D, like Shayne Gostisbehere and Samuel Morin will lift the team in the near future.

Eagles: Connor Barwin, Kiko Alonso, Zach Ertz, Jordan Matthews
They may not be the most impressive names on the back of an Eagles jersey, but they are what is left. There is a lot in flux right now on the Birds' roster, and even if new star running back DeMarco Murray has a good season in 2015 there's no telling how long he'll stay. Sam Bradford's future is also not set in stone, he could get reinsured, or even be a secret trade chip. Barwin is a pass-rushing beast who just signed an extension. Alonso is the stud middle linebacker who could anchor the defense for years to come, and Zach Ertz and Jordan Matthews are the remnants of the Eagles' dominant offense from 2013 and 2014.

LeSean McCoy and Nick Foles jerseys should be placed on the shelf — at least for now. / GETTY IMAGES
